11	Aims To develop an understanding of the complex ways in which pupils learn. To demonstrate an understanding of the structure and nature of the National Curriculum. To provide effective support in promoting pupil learning. Approaches considered will support pupil learning across the whole curriculum when working with pupils on an individual basis as well as in groups.
12	Learning outcomes On completion of this module the successful students will be able to: LO1. Critically analyse the theories of child development and how children learn. LO2. Consider and analyse the application of different theories and research within current legislation and the National Curriculum. LO3. Evaluate the use of assessment for learning to support pupil progress. LO4. Reflect on the possible factors which may have an effect on pupils' learning. For example, individual learning styles and experiences. LO5. Observe, assess and record pupil development and evaluate effective ways of supporting pupils.
13	Syllabus <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Theories of child development: cognitive, behaviourist, psychoanalytical and humanistic. • Learning styles and their application. • Relationship between language and learning. • The role of play. • Factors that may affect the learning process including group dynamics. • National Curriculum and guidance. • Assessment for learning and role of support staff.
14.	Learning, teaching and assessment strategy Students will participate in a series of lectures outlining key theorists relating to pupil learning and summarising different learning style models. Students will be encouraged to relate these to their work practice and their own learning and reflect on the implications for practice. It is expected that students will keep a learning journal recording a minimum of three consultations with pupil/s reviewing learning achievements, strategies used and identifying future learning needs, plus reflecting on the implications for their own practice in providing support and any follow-up discussions with appropriate colleagues. Formative: Submit draft of the report for comment.

	Summative: Report: Using a range of monitoring opportunities to assess the participation and progress of a pupil you work with in a chosen curriculum area. Discuss the pupil's learning opportunities and possible factors which may affect the pupil's progress. Make recommendations to support the pupil's development in the chosen curriculum area. Refer to development theories and link to the National Curriculum and guidance frameworks. Reflective Account: Use the outcomes to reflect on your own practice and identify areas for your own development. (2500 words, Reflective account 500 words 65%, Learning Outcomes: LO 1, 2, 3, 4 & 5 Summative). Observations in appendices. Group presentation: Compare and contrast two child development theories or learning style models and relate to current teaching and learning practice. 11	Aims	The rationale aims and objectives of this module are detailed by students in a 'project proposal'. It follows that this module will be unique in terms of its aims. The primary aim is to undertake a project which will have a useful outcome for a specific work focused activity. All students will be required to maintain a learning journal during the course of their project.
12	Learning outcomes	On completion of this module the successful students will be able to:

	LO1. Produce a plan that justifies and proposes the potential usefulness of a work focused project, including ethical considerations. LO2. Select and critically analyse appropriate research relating to your chosen project. LO3. Gather and evaluate information appropriate to the project and identify key themes. LO4. Conclude and make recommendations to inform future practice.
13	Syllabus <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How to plan and write a project proposal and project report. • Programme of supervised activities designed to fulfil the project proposal within the workplace setting to meet specific objectives agreed between the workplace, college tutor and student.
14.	Learning, teaching and assessment strategy Students will identify a mainly self-managed project with definable outcomes. Learning outcomes will be linked to assessment criteria. Students are expected to organise their studies, and other activity, to reflect the nature of their work based situation, its constraints, the goals to be addressed, and their personal learning and work styles. This will involve reading, negotiation, research and practical activities. Sign off from the employer and tutor to include ethical considerations will be required. Formative: Submission of a draft of the project proposal. Summative: Project proposal (1500 words) and an ethical approval form (500 words) (total of 2000 words, 35%, Learning Outcomes: LO 1 Summative). Written report based on the project which integrates theory with practice, as well as assessing the value of the project undertaken in the workplace context.
